Bishop Pike On Race, Radicals and Religion

The Canterbury Club of Hartnell will bring Bishop James A. Pike of the Episcopal Diocese of California to Hartnell Monday at noon in the Student Union for an address open to the student body.

His topic will be, "Birmingham and Beyond."

Bishop Pike will recount experiences during his recent trip to Washington, D.C., where he served as a member of a ten-man presidential board that was trying to find a solution to the Birmingham crisis.

Bishop Pike will also give his impressions of the problems facing any possible solution to the racial crisis. Following his speech the floor will be thrown open to a question-and-answer period.

Leader of the "New Breed"

The Rt. Rev. Pike is considered to be a leader in the "new breed" of theologians. This "new breed" represents the "liberal" side of the Episcopal Church which often advocates changes in church policies.

His ideas, while controversial, are logical and interesting. Two years ago 15 Episcopal ministers demanded his being tried for heresy, due to an article he wrote for the "Christian Century."

On the doctrine of the Trinity, Bishop Pike was quoted as saying, "The packaging is not to be confused with the product." He has been at various times in his life, a Roman Catholic, an agnostic and a lawyer.

During his stay in Salinas he will reside at St. Paul's Church, where he will conduct a series of lectures on Oct. 20, 21, and 22 at 8 o'clock these three evenings.

UN Day Here: So What's New?

As this year's U.N. Day comes around again on Oct. 24, things may or may not be the same as last year for about now, the general assembly is battling around the question of Red Chinese recognition. This year, however, it is little Albania—the only hard line communist country in Europe—that introduced the measure. It has usually been Russia which has brought the topic up while the U.S. races around outside drumming up opposition to defeat the proposition.

When the UN charter was signed in June, 1945, at the organizational conference in San Francisco, many were apprehensive of the organization's future. During the time, 18 years ago this month when the charter came into force, things were very low for the UN.

Nowadays, however, with the emergence of new nations in Africa and Asia and other parts of the world, the original powers behind the UN have a smaller proportion of voters and this appears to have somewhat strengthened the organization.

Adventurous? Trained or Not You Are Needed

Do you like to travel, visit foreign countries, earn money? Right now, at this very moment, thousands of Americans are doing just this; including five ex-Hartnell students. How? They joined the Peace Corps! You too may qualify for this opportunity by taking the general information test tomorrow at the Federal Building.

In 44 countries throughout the world the Peace Corps is offering junior college students the opportunity to "invest their time and talent in helping people to help themselves." Although the corps needs specialists in such fields as medicine, engineering, and science, "nonskilled" workers are also needed for jobs in recreational leadership, farming, mechanics, home economics, first aid, and hygiene.

The requirements are simple: You must be over 18 years of age, an American citizen, and in sound physical and mental health. You do not need a college degree. The next step is to fill out the application and take the Peace Corps noncompetitive placement test. From this information you will be notified as to your acceptance for an assignment.

If you are interested in taking this test either tomorrow or on the next given date, contact Dr. Sandgren for related information.

PEARSON CONFIRMS NEW DATE FOR 'MERRY-GO-ROUND' TALK

Celebrated columnist and political correspondent Drew Pearson has been rescheduled to speak here Nov. 28. Pearson's former October speaking engagement was cancelled when it was found to coincide with one at San Jose City College.

One of the nation's top journalists, Pearson has had for many years his own syndicated column in hundreds of newspapers.

A Nose for Naughtiness

Over this time he has developed a nose and a reputation for finding out mismanagement and foul play in many areas, especially those around Washington. For this reason his topic here, "Washington Merry-Go-Round," though not expected to bring any startling revelations, should provide an opportunity for this expert in the field to present some sort of a picture of the goings-on in and around the nation's capital.

Pearson is known among his associates as "the man who dares to write what others fear to say." Many government officials and others who might be tempted to act other than in the public interest are held in check by the warning, "Pearson might find out!"

"D" NOTES

Although children look forward to the end of October, Hartnell students fear it. Not because of the witches, ghosts, and goblins Halloween brings, but because it also brings deficiency notices.

The dreaded white cloaks with the pink slips will begin appearing in mail boxes throughout the area on Saturday, Oct. 19. "At the end of each six-week period, any student who has shown a deficiency in scholarship will be notified and should at once consult with the instructor in whose course the deficiency was incurred," according to the college catalog. Better start talking . . .

Screening for Nurses Scheduled for Tuesday

Our department of nursing education has scheduled pretests Tuesday for persons interested in entering the vocational nursing program which will start in February.

The tests, which are required of all students planning to apply for entry to the program, will be given at 1:30 p.m. in Room 12 of the Science Building.

Prerequisites for test: Applicants may be made or female and fall between the ages of 18 and 50.

Students planning to take the pretests should notify the nursing department before the set time. Screening interviews for applicants will be held before the spring semester begins.

The LVN program has been given a changed timetable, according to nursing director Helen Ferguson. "Students entering this February will study at the college and in the hospital patient-care areas until June 12, 1964. Classes will resume in September of the year. Successful students will receive their certificates of completion in June, 1965."

Next Flick Spoofs Spies

Suspense, mystery, intrigue and hilarity surround the characters in "Our Man in Havana," third in the Hartnell Film Series, which will be shown Oct. 24. Alec Guinness, Maureen O'Hara, Ernie Kovacs, Burl Ives, Jo Morrow, Ralph Richardson and Noel Coward star in the movie which is based on the novel and the screen play by Graham Greene.

The Havana representative of an English vacuum cleaner company, Alex Guinness, becomes a British spy, but he can find nothing to spy on, and rather than be known as a failure, he sends his superiors magnified sketches of the interior of one of his cleaners and reports that the hills surrounding Havana are full of these huge atomic plants. The result: Mass Confusion!

"This satiric spoof moves along at a fast pace, combining smiles with belly-laughs," comments Don Moorhead, commissioner of cultural activities.

"Our Man in Havana" was put out by Columbia. The movies are not always the educational films some students seem to believe, but are the same films we pay to see at downtown theaters.

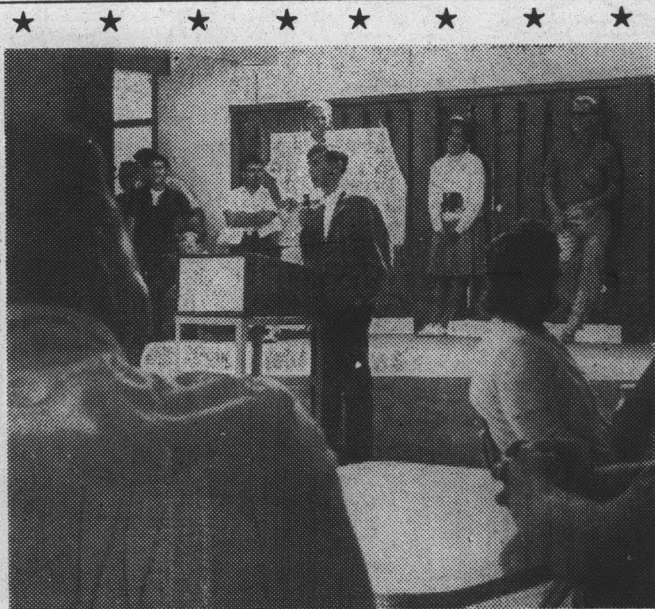

"Our Man in Havana," like the other films in the series, will be shown twice, once at 2:30 in the Little Theatre, and again at 7:30 in the Student Union. Both showings are free to Hartnell students and the public.

FILM SERIES SCHEDULE

"Our Man in Havana"	Oct. 24
"Ballad of a Soldier"	Nov. 12
"What Do You Do Here?"	Nov. 26
"Lady With a Dog"	Nov. 26
"Wild Strawberries"	Dec. 5
"Macario"	Jan. 9

Attention Transfers

The Scholastic Aptitude Test, testing mathematics and verbal skills, will be given in December. All California universities and most private colleges require the SAT. For further information concerning this test consult Dr. Duane Sandgren.

RALLY TO THE RALLIES where student participation is needed as well as student criticism. Hartnell spirit gets a boost every Friday noon even though student opinion is split on some of the tone and content of the rallies. (Editor's Note: See "Letters to the Editor" on Page 2).

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I strongly urge you and all students who are concerned about this college to attend a single commission meeting.

There you will see for yourself exactly what trivial, petty, trite and insignificant matters are debated upon. During a recent meeting more than 50 per cent of the allocated time was spent on deciding what color and type of emblem to sew on the commissioners' jackets which are costing the student body approximately $25 apiece.

After great debate and careful consideration it was agreed that they should stick to the school colors and the Panther emblem because they were true representatives of Hartnell.

It was also decided that $1,000 be allocated for a student handbook. Of course by the time it is printed it will be December and the purpose of the handbook is to instruct and inform the incoming freshmen and new students for this fall semester.

It is a sad situation indeed that the student body has elected petty, self-serving leaders. But sadder yet is the fact that the student body allows them to operate without opposition.

BILLIE BROWN
Commissioner of Public Relations

Dear Editor:

What has happened to the school spirit at Hartnell? Must it come only through a crude display of vulgarity by our rally leaders?

We admire Bobby Shehorn's guts in his apology to the students and faculty for the cheers that have been presented at past games but when will we receive an apology from Paul Vecker for the obscenity that he has shown us at the rallies?

The rally that took place Oct. 11 could have been fun, instead, it was embarrassing. Better organization is definitely called for. When will it come?

It is usually up to the commissioner of rallies and assemblies and the frosh representative to present decent rallies, but when they ignore their duty, then we, the students, should demand that these officers fulfill their obligation to us and to the public. This situation must come to a halt immediately.

(Signed)

MELODY RODRIGUEZ

MUCH TO DO ABOUT NOTHING

They say curiosity killed the cat. Now, that's fine, and heaven knows we wouldn't want harm to befall anyone, but don't you think it's about time to start wondering about some of the things around you? For instance, how do you know that "blood is thicker than water"? What if you have leukemia? And for that matter, what's wrong with a four-letter word? Four is a four-letter word.

And that mosaic outside the library. You probably thought that was there to save paint money, huh? You don't reckon with its significance. How many of you realize there are 182,672 tiles in its structure? Probably precious few. And when I was out there counting them, how many of you were even curious about what I was doing? For all you knew, I could have been planning the most strategic way to destroy the library. (Now, there's a thought!)

Water Boy

And that only scratches the surface. How many will stop to think that the water fountain takes up the space that could easily be devoted to 132½ tiles? Or that the door jamb takes up ½ a tile and this, when added to the ½-odd tile from the fountain allows me to come out with an even number? Or that it was put up to encourage students to think of their vocations (and not to protect the library from the curses of heat-crazed wombats, like you probably thought).

But encourage us to think it does. It makes the business major think of mass production and quantitative theory, while the premed student is reminded of a one-dimensional faulty gall bladder. The geology student knows that he has a quiz next Tuesday on the San Andreas Fault, while I'm sure the law enforcement major would be interested in knowing who took the two missing tiles from the No. 1 pillar. It reminds the psychology major of sex. (I can see some logic there—it does remind of a Freudian slip—or an architectural slip—or some kind of a slip.)

None of that really matters, however. What does matter is that you arouse your curiosity; that you do something constructive for a change. Assume the responsibility. Count the bricks on the Science Building. Learn how to stuff ballot boxes. Be a man. But above all, don't just sit there and oomose.

As for me, I'm going to bed.

Did you know that there are 207 leisurely paces from one end of the main hall to the other end?

Four out of five students questioned would favor having the library open on Sunday afternoons.

FRANTIC FLASHES: The YR's are off to a good start this year. It seems that one of its members likes to walk through plate-glass windows . . . Our cheerleaders this year are the best I've seen in a long time and they're entertaining too.

The brawl between Hartnell and Taft's football teams turned out a touchdown for the "good guys." Actually, I'm surprised the fight didn't start earlier . . . the football cheer, "Give 'em Hell, Hartnell," is becoming synonymous with the Hartnell students. . . .

How about that new sound recorded by the Smothers Brothers, "Jenny Brown." The "tune" is about a girl lying dead on the beach. The lyrics go something like this: "Oh, Jenny Brown, why did I treat you so cruel? Lying still on the beach, all sandy and dirty, with flies and stuff." (Rumor has it that the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has banned it—and that's no fly-by-night opinion, either.)

Dates to Remember

Oct. 18—Deficiency notices (if you don't receive any on this date, don't get your hopes up too high because they came out again sooner than you think. . . .)

Cross-country with Menlo here.

Did you hear about the new deodorant they've put on the market called "Vanish"? When applied you disappear and nobody knows where the stink is coming from. . . . If you plan on sitting in the cheering section tomorrow night PLEASE WEAR WHITE. . . . I hope to see everyone at the dance after the game. Should be a real clodhopper. . . .

Wanted: Friendship And Good Will

Good will, friendship and understanding between American and foreign students on the Hartnell campus are the goals of the student commission on foreign relations.

The commission is now in the process of organization. Its first meeting was held Oct. 17.

Associated Women Students and Associated Men Students serve as joint chairmen of the commission. Interested students are welcome to participate.

Student body president Jack Horwitz commented, "There are more than 70,000 foreign students studying in the United States at the present time. More than 30,000 of these students return to their native countries every year. What impressions do they take home with them?"

The foreign students on our campus have many problems; language being the major one. There is something that you can do to help. It is both a learning and rewarding experience."

COLUMN RIGHT

By GLENN GRAVES

Column Right will expound the political philosophy of the present-day conservative movement in this country. As the author of Column Right I cannot and will not, unless so designated, speak officially for any organized group of individuals.

In addition to writing this column I would like to offer the following services: (1) I will answer any sincere questions related to politics. (2) I will recommend books on different political topics. Upon request I will arrange for speakers, films, or tape recordings on various political subjects for your club.

(Leave note in Room 9 concerning above services.)

The John Birch Society has been a controversy on this campus as well as in this nation. As a member of this society, I would like to clear up this quandary by presenting to you the following summarization of a lengthy report published by the California State Fact-Finding Committee:

"We (the state committee) believe that the reason the J.B.S. has attracted so many members is that it simply appeared to them to be the most effective, indeed the only, organization through which they could join in a national movement to learn the truth about the Communist menace and then take some positive concerted action to prevent its spread.

"Our investigation and study was requested by the society, which had been publicly charged with being a secret, fascist, subversive, un-American, anti-Semitic organization. We have not found any of the accusations to be supported by the evidence."

The John Birch Society is an educational society. It is not political. Birch Society members are free to join any political organization they wish. The society is not connected with or trying to take over any organization.

It has been rumored among the faculty and student body of this college that the main purpose of the Hartnell College Young Republicans is to help abolish the United Nations. The College Y.R.'s have not passed any resolutions concerning the United Nations and will not pass any as long as I am vice president of this organization.

RECOMMENDED BOOK OF THE MONTH

John T. Flynn's "While You Slept" is a book now more than ten years old, but is still quite revealing as to how the Communists have accomplished one important part of their great brainwashing job.

ELECTED SONGSTERS ADD LEADERSHIP TO HARTNELL'S HARMONIOUS CHORUSTERS

Reigning as leaders over loyal singing subjects are this term's Hartnell Choir officers: Steve Halterman, president; Marilee Reese, secretary; Leora Hughes, librarian; Betsy Beazell, robe chairman.

Performing, along with just plain singing, highlights this coming schedule for the choir. The 53-voice choir is currently preparing feature work for its annual Christmas program, Dec. 15, at Mission San Juan Bautista. They will present the "Messe de Minuit" by Marc Antoine Charpentier, a noted 17th Century French composer. Also on the program will be these contemporary works: Daniel Pinkham's "Christmas Cantata," to be sung by the mixed chorus; "The Shepherds Rejoice," by Arthur Frackenhohl, sung by the men's chorus; and another Pinkham work, "Angelus Ad Pastores Ait," presented by the women's chorus.

Mr. Myron McTavish, the organist at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, will accompany the choir as he has in the past. Last year, Mr. McTavish served as substitute choir director while Mr. Aslanian was on sabbatical leave.

Also accompanying the Hartnell choir in its numbers will be a brass section under the direction of Mr. Robert Lee, Hartnell band director.

■ ENSEMBLED AROUND the Grand piano are: (left to right) Marilee Reese, Steve Halterman, Leora Hughes, director Vahe Aslanian, and Betsy Beazell. As the newly-elected officers of the 53-voice choir, they will assist in the programming and scheduling of the choir this coming term. Activities such as trips and various community performances all help to make an exciting year for these leaders and their Hartnell Choir.

Intelligence Becomes You

In 1922 Mr. W. T. Boyce, then dean of Fullerton Junior College, conceived the idea of junior college honor societies which today has blossomed into the Alpha Gamma Sigma. Little was actually done, however, until 1926, when an organizational committee was drawn up at the principals' convention held at the Hotel Huntington.

In 1932 the first convention of the honor societies was held. Delegates to the convention (fourteen chapters were represented), chose "Add to a Good Character, Knowledge and Judgment" as their motto. The Greek words Arete, Gnosis, and Sophrosyne phrase this adequately. Then they selected the first letter of each, Alpha Gamma Sigma, to be their new name. The Nu chapter was formed here at Hartnell in approximately 1938. Mr. Robert Johnston serves as faculty adviser to the current body consisting of twenty members.

At last Friday's organizational meeting, David Paige was elected, by majority vote, to serve as president for this semester. The school's "brains" also unanimously elected Les Breschini, vice president; Donna McDonald, secretary; and Barbara Ferrari, treasurer. Until President Paige can become better acquainted with the members, he temporarily appointed Esther Blalock ICC representative for the group.

Mr. Johnston is rightly proud of this organization and feels that it can "provide a high scholastic leadership for the college."

Have you noticed the Mickey Mouse (Moose?) ears in Pad 9? Are they remnants from an exciting past?

Five out of seven Hartnell students wear glasses. Quite a spectacle!

CANTERBURY CLUB CALLS ON CHURCH

Canterbury Club recently elected officers for this year. They are: president, Tom Bailey, vice president, Betsy Beazell; secretary-treasurer, Pat O'Grady; and ICC representative, Gayle Barry.

Canterbury Club is a nationwide organization of Episcopal college students. It meets at St. Paul's Episcopal Church the second and fourth Wednesday of each month at 7 a.m. A breakfast follows holy communion at the Student Union.

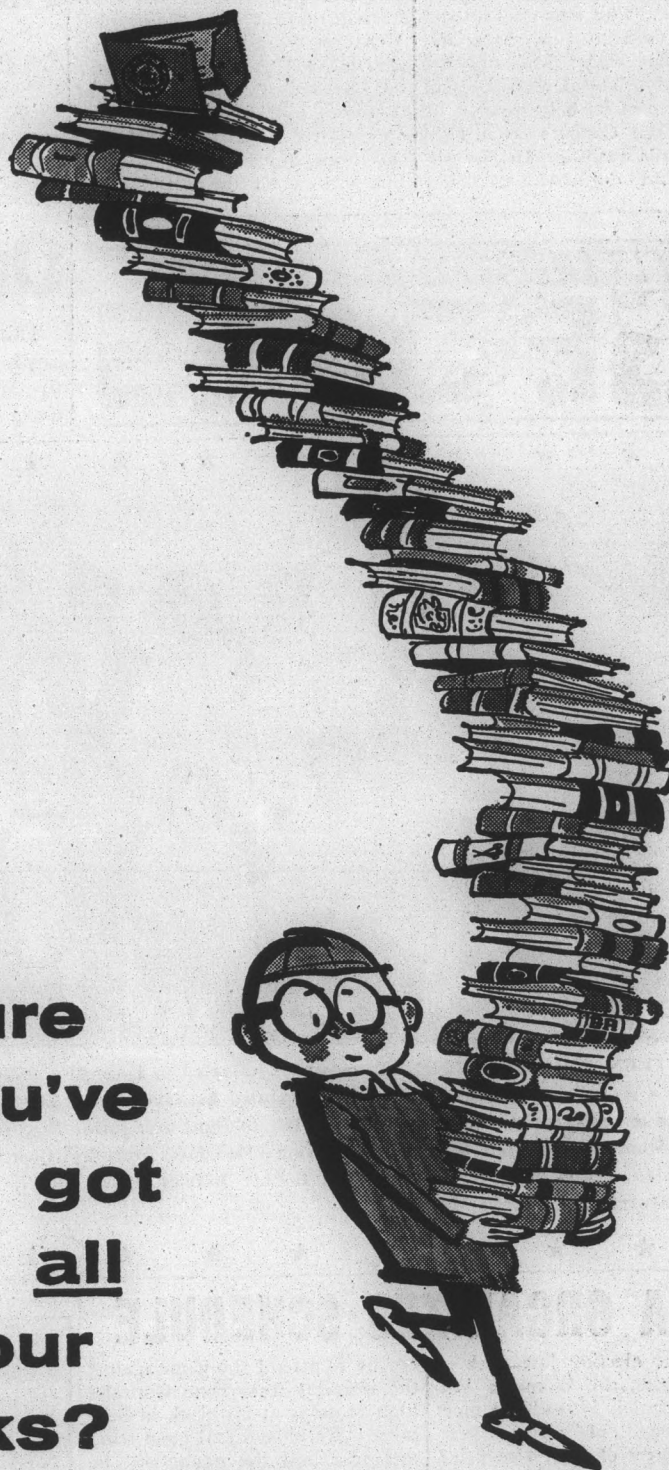

This year Canterbury plans to have exciting social and intellectual activity. Adviser Lorenz Newton said that he hopes to bring up discussion and examination of critical sociological issues of today.

The chaplain is the Rev. Ernest Hunt and sponsors are Robert Johnston and Lorenz Newton.

Gridmen On Victory Trail—Two In A Row

Taft First to Fall This Year

Victory has finally come to the Panthers of Hartnell. The Panthers defeated Taft College two weeks ago to gain their first victory of the season. Final score over the Cougars was 13 to 0.

Excitement was provided for everyone who attended the game. Not only were the fans treated to a victory but they also saw the Hart team and the Taft team put on a gridiron fistic show early in the fourth quarter. The brawl turned out to be a draw but Hartnell received a 15-yarder for the entire display.

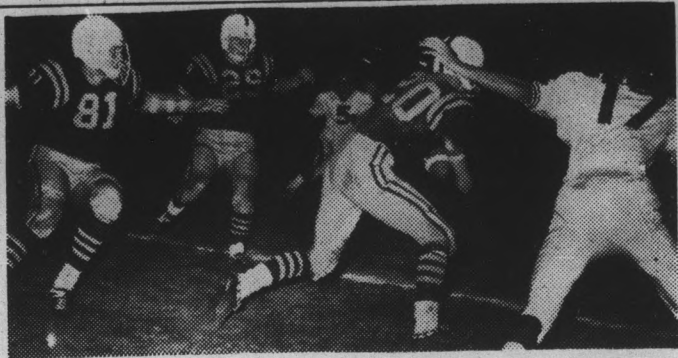

Getting back to the football game, the Panthers played better than they had been up to this game. The squad came out on the field to play ball, and that's what they did, only not consistently. The defensive squad played one of its better games by limiting the Cougars to a total of 60 yards rushing. In the air, Taft could do nothing. They completed only two passes.

Some of the standouts for the Panther squad on defense were Bill Niccoli, Tim Bassetti, Larry Palma, Wayne Garvis, and Jim Mankins. These were the most highly praised men by head coach Arvin Smith.

On offense the player who did the most was none other than Big Jim Mankins. The King City tank accounted for nearly all of the team's yards gained rushing. He piled up a total of 204 yards; team total was 244. Jim's gains were three times more than Taft gained for the entire evening.

Other standouts on offense were Bob Hammond, Mike Lewis, Tony Azevedo, and Wayne Garvis. Paul McKinsey did a good job as quarterback. He passed to Ray Page for Hartnell's first touchdown and then ran over for Hartnell's second score. In all, everyone on the team did his share in this first victory for the 1963 season.

■ HALFBACK GORDON NOLAN intercepts a pass in the Taft game under the protective wings of Bill Niccoli (81) and Tony Ploszay (29).

Panthers Rally in Fourth Quarter

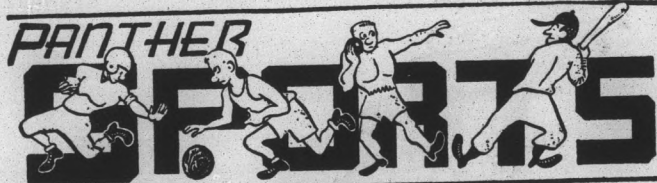

Hartnell's Panthers made it almost penalty free. Hartnell and Coalinga played a hard but clean football game. Big Jim Mankins managed to bull his way for a total of 107 yards. He almost accounted for half of Hartnell's total yardage —216. Coalinga's yardage was about 76 yards.

Coalinga got onto the score board on a field goal by fullback Marty Zillig from eight yards out. The score then read Coalinga 3 Hartnell 0. It was not until the fourth quarter that Hartnell got on the scoreboard. Fleet-footed Al Smith took off for eight yards and a touchdown for Hartnell. This is Al's second touchdown of the season. It seems that Smith scores only away from home!

Head coach Smith praised the work of Jim Mankins for his fine efforts on offense and defense. He also praised the work of Bob Hammond, Mike Lewis and Paul McKinsey. On defense, the following received a good-job nod from the coach: Bill Niccoli, Gordon Nolan, George Comeau, and Tim Bassetti. In all, the entire defensive squad did a good job.

The next outing for the Panther squad is tomorrow night. The Cats will open up their 1963 Coast Conference schedule against Vallejo. Little is known about the Vallejo Falcons. The Panthers will be out after the championship and a chance to host the Lettuce Bowl.

One Up - One Down

Coming off a win over Gavilan College of Hollister on Sept. 27, the cross-country team of Coach Adams notched up another win Friday, Oct. 4. This time the win came over Vallejo College on the Hart course.

Vallejo was no match for the powerful Panthers. Vallejo was never in contention, except for the first quarter mile, but then little Bill Burton and Rube Salgado took over the lead. The two-some were joined later on in the race by Leonard Davies, who won the race. Finishing behind Davies were Chuck Sanders, Ken Shirk, Salgado, and Burton. The rest of the crew helped make the complete sweep over Vallejo.

Second Out of Five

Adams' harriers lost their first cross-country meet last Friday afternoon. The loss came at the hands of powerful San Jose City College. The San Jose squad outran the Hartnell team by taking a complete sweep of the top places in the five-way meet.

The Panthers did take a second place in the over-all meet. They defeated Gavilan, Menlo, and Cabrillo Colleges. Placing high in the positions for the Panthers were Leonard Davies and Rube Salgado. These two boys made the top ten of the race; Davies taking ninth and Salgado taking tenth.

The next outing for the CC squad will be here today.

WAA ORGANIZES SCHEDULE

With the election last week of three officers, the Women's Athletic Association is ready to meet the challenge of a new year. Those officers elected: vice president, Gayle Rendleman; secretary, Kathy Macklin; and treasurer, Dorothy George.

New Blazers to Be Worn

One of the first things that the girls decided on was the selection of new WAA red blazers. This is the first year that the organization has offered this type of jacket to be worn to conferences, games, and other meetings. The traditional white jacket will still be worn for play days and women's competition basketball games.

Vice-president Gayle, also basketball manager, is inviting everyone to attend the game against the women's team from Gonzales high Monday at 8 o'clock in Gonzales. "We have a real good team this year and the game will be worth watching," she said. Making up the WAA team are: Bobbie Jeffries, Janice Whitson, Kathy Bauer, Jackie Pia, Dorothy George, Kathy Brown, Carmen Rios, Sandra Emilio, Johnnie Gabriel, Yvonne Luebke, and Gayle Rendleman.

Keeping to their busy schedule, the WAA will participate in a coed sports day at San Francisco City College on Nov. 2. Sports offered will be volleyball, tennis, archery, badminton, and bowling. A sign-up sheet can be found both in the men's and women's gyms.
